VOL. XIII. ATLANTA, GA., SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 11, 1881. NO. 307

THE PRICE HE PAID

AND THE SENSATION IT MADE.

Mr. Bradley Declares Mr. Sessions to be the Giftgiver, While Mr. Sessions Denies the Charge —Investigation of the Question— Result of the Last Ballot.

ALBANY, June 10.—The special committee began last night, to investigate the charges of attempted bribery of members of the assembly to vote for Chauncey M. Depew for United States senator.

Assemblyman Sisson testified: Early in January last, while the canvass for senator was going on, a man named Edwards wanted me to go for Depew. I told him that I could not do it, and that my constituents would not sustain me. He told me that if I would my last fall's campaign expenses would be paid. He has approached me in this canvass. He has not offered me any money in this canvass.

Samuel Bradley, member of the assembly, testified: I was coming out of the Delavan house, last evening, and met Senator Sessions. We got it to a conversation about the senatorial question, and he called me out in the hall. He said: "Can I talk to you?" I said, "yes." He said: "I can get you $1,000 to put in your vest pocket, if you will vote for Chauncey M. Depew, tomorrow. I told him no, and started off to leave him. He followed me and said he would go up stairs and see what was the best thing he could do. I went back to the lobby and went up to the Kenmore to get my supper. Having told him that he could find me at my room, he came into my room and locked the door. Sessions went on to say that it would be all nice now if we all from that district voted for the same man He said that he had $2,000 to give me if I would vote for Depew, and $1,000 more if Depew is elected. I took the money. He counted it. He left then and said: "This is away down deep in the well." I said, yes, down deep in the well. I went down to the Delavan house. I thought over the matter. My first thought was to wait until the vote was taken, when I would take the money and say "this is what I got to vote for Depew," but I thought it was not best for me to keep the money over night. So I went to find Speaker Sharpe; found him, told him what had taken place, and gave him the money. I did not object to receiving the money when offered first. The offer was $1,000, which I refused. I accepted the money for the purpose which I showed today. Sessions told me to say in explanation of my vote something about the same Russell said when he changed.

Senator Sessions was sworn and said: I had a conversation with Bradley, as he says, and urged him to vote for Depew. We have had several conversations on the same topic. There was not a syllable by either of us about money. Hudson, of the Brooklyn Eagle, was there, and also Ingersoll, member of the assembly of last year. Ingersoll said he met a Mr. Daly on the cars, and Cary had told him that he had been through Cattaraugus, and that the whole country was up in arms about Bradley's voting. Last near Bradley at the supper table, and I thought I would not say him what Cary had said. I told him I would like to see him after supper, and he said: "Come to my room." I went to my room and Bradley came there, saying: "Sessions, I want to see you." We went out, and we met Senator Williams. Bradley got his key and we went into his room. I said to him that I had talked with Ingersoll, and told him (Bradley) what Ingersoll had told me, and advised him to take care of himself. He said, "I am satisfied my district is overwhelmingly against Conkling and Platt, and that I have voted for the last time for Platt. To-morrow I will vote for Depew." I congratulated Bradley, and there was no suggestion on my part of money, and none on his part. I did not see Bradley after we parted. This morning Bradley came to me in the senate and asked me if in the change of voting he ought not to have something to say in explanation. I told him that he could say something like what Russell, of Kings, said in explanation of his change; that his constituents demanded the change.

Senator Sessions desired to ask Bradley whether he had not told four different persons yesterday, before the transaction he referred to took place, that he intended to vote for Depew, but the committee adjourned.

After adjournment Sessions said the questions he desired to ask Bradley were whether he had not told four different persons on Wednesday, and before the transaction he referred to took place, that he intended to vote for Depew.

The committee met this morning at 9:40 o'clock, all the members present.

Speaker Sharpe was the first witness called. He was sworn, and said, I know Samuel H. Bradley. I had an interview with him night before last at the Delavan house in my room. No one was present except Bradley and Mr. Jones, a member of the republican state committee. Bradley and Jones came in the room together and Bradley said he had an important thing to say to me; said he had been approached a little while ago and was offered money to vote for Depew. I asked him if he had any money; he governor said yes he was given money; he then said he wanted me to take it; I asked him why? He said as chief officer of the house, he preferred to give it to me. He said he was in doubt whether to make the statement in the house or joint convention. He wanted my advice, and I did not want to give it. My impression is that he asked Mr Jones when he should tell who gave it to him. He told me it was the senator from his district (Mr. Sessions.) He then gave me the money. I counted it. There was two thousand dollars, three five hundred and ten fifty dollar bills (the speaker handed over the money to the chairman of the committee) I put the money in that envelope and put it in my pocket. I counted the money again before I went to bed and counted it again in the morning. I carefully examined the bills. These are the same bills. There are three $500 treasury notes. The witness detailed the numbers and series of the bills.

Mr. Brooks moved that the money be deposited with the controller, to be held for final disposal by the speaker. Carried.

Mr. Peckham cross examined. Speaker Sharpe stated the following testimony: I did not give Bradley any advice telling him that while I did not want to take the money still I thought he had a right to leave it with me. When I took the money I asked him if he had mingled money with any other. He said he had not. He asked Jones if he should tell from whom he had received money and I think Jones told him he ought to. Bradley then said it was the senator from his district, Mr. Sessions. He asked me if I would recognize him on the floor of the assembly next day. He asked when it would be in order, and I told him at any time; I did not advise him to see Mr. Sessions in the morning; I did not see him again until I saw him in the house; the room in which the interview took place was General Arthur's room; I was then receiving callers; Mr. Bradley and Mr. Jones were the only ones in the room at the time; and they stayed only five or seven minutes.

To ex-Speaker Smith, of Sessions's counsel—I was at Vice President Arthur's room simply to receive calls. These callers came on general business. The senatorial question was spoken of. I spoke of the matter to General Arthur within half an hour He was the first man I communicated it to. He was alone. I did not speak of it to any one else that night. Mr. Jones is named Orsini. He comes from Chattaraugus district. He was a member of the republican state committee. He is a supporter of Mr. Conkling. There was no prearrangement by which I made the statement from the chair corroborative of Mr. Bradley's statement. It was not my duty to do so, but as Mr. Bradley had said he gave money to me, I believed it my duty to say that the statement it was correct.

The committee adjourned until this evening.

The joint convention met at 12 m., with Senator Robertson in the chair, and proceeded to vote for a successor to Mr. Conkling with the following result:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Conkling | 8 | Wheeler | 4 |
| Cornell | 2 | Folger | 1 |
| Jacobs | 1 | Rogers | 1 |
| Lapham | 1 | Bradley | 1 |

The assembly voted as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Conkling | 25 | Wheeler | 16 |
| Cornell | 18 | Folger | 1 |
| Jacobs | 1 | Rogers | 1 |
| Lapham | 6 | Titmaine | 5 |
| Harris | 1 | | |

The convention then proceeded to vote to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Platt, with this result.

The vote of the senate was:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Kernan | 6 | Cornell | 3 |
| Platt | 6 | Folger | 1 |
| Depew | 14 | | |

The assembly voted as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Kernan | 42 | Folger | 2 |
| Platt | 22 | Crowley | 4 |
| Depew | 60 | Lapham | 3 |
| Cornell | 6 | | |

Mr. Raines announced that he would change his vote from Titmaine to Depew, eliciting much applause. The presiding officer declared there was no change.

Mr. Hayes moved that the convention adjourn.

Senator Foster, on the part of the senate, asked for the ayes and noes, and the senate voted 10 in the affirmative and 20 in the negative.

Mr. Alvord asked for the ayes and noes on the part of the house, and there were ayes 60, noes 57. The joint vote stood ayes 70, noes 77 and the motion to adjourn was declared lost. Another vote was taken to fill Conkling's vacancy with this result:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Jacobs | 47 | Conkling | 33 |
| Wheeler | 21 | Rogers | 17 |
| Cornell | 11 | Bradley | 1 |
| Folger | 2 | Lapham | 11 |
| Titmaine | 4 | Harris | 1 |

No choice. The convention then proceeded to vote to fill the Platt vacancy as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Platt | 28 | Depew | 54 |
| Cornell | 9 | Kernan | 48 |
| Folger | 3 | Crowley | 4 |
| Lapham | 2 | | |

There was no choice. On motion of Mr. Spinola, the convention adjourned to 12 m. to-morrow.

UNPROVOKED HOMICIDE.

The Murderer Captured by the Sheriff and Placed in Jail—The Murdered Man Unknown.

VINCENNES, Indiana, June 10.—A killing occurred in this city just before noon today, which, so far as it has been investigated seems to be the most unprovoked murder that has ever occurred here. Additional interest is lent to the affair from the fact that every effort has failed to reveal the identity of the slain party. Tom Boyer, aged about seventeen, is the homicide. He is the child of respectable French parents, but has been wild for several years. To day, in company with companions, he walked down Hart street toward the river guying the stranger. So far as I can learn Boyer told the stranger that a man who would wear such a hat, which looked something like a woman's, ought to be shot. The fellow, annoyed at the remark, told him that perhaps he had better shoot it. Boyer, it is reported, then pulled out his revolver and fired, and then skipped across the railroad bridge to Illinois. The ball entered the man's right side, near the nipple, and was found under his left shoulder, it having passed through both lungs, killing him almost instantly. The body was taken to Gardner's dead room, where it has been viewed by two thousand people, though none have recognized him. He was dressed in a rustic suit of black, had on a black and white braid straw hat, and boots. In his pockets were a day-book, pocket-book, brass watch without a chain, revolver over which was drawn a pair of black kids and other trifles The man is of dark complexion, but has a brown mustache. The mere that ought to lead to his identification, however, is some pictures tattooed on his right arm just below the elbow. The bust of a woman is marked thereon in red and blue, about regular card size. Below this is a woman sitting in a chair, with a bouquet of flowers on a stand beside her. Her legs are crossed, and one of them is exposed as high as the knee. It is hoped that the publication of these marks will lead to the discovery of the people. Boyer stopped when he had crossed the river, to see the effect of his hasty shot, and, after a lively chase, was captured by Sheriff Haskley and Deputy Rumer. He quietly went with them across the river, and is now in jail. The inquest is in progress.

WOMEN'S WHIMS

And Women's Miseries at the Hands of Men.

ST. LOUIS, June 10.—The Republican's Decatur Ill., special says: Yesterday afternoon a newly married couple registered at the St. Nicholas hotel as Dr. C. J. Lockhart and wife, of Owensboro, Ky., and were assigned a room in the third story. About 12 o'clock last night a cry of "Kill me, kill me," was heard issuing from the hotel, which attracted a crowd on the street, when a woman in her night clothes was discovered hanging from the lower sash of the second story windows of the house. A moment later she dropped into the arms of a gentleman standing on the sidewalk below, and was taken into the hotel parlor where she was recognized as the wife of Dr. Lockhart. A physician was called for whom she said she had run away from her bed, leaving her husband asleep, and threw herself from the window with the intention of killing herself. The woman she gave for the act was aversion to marriage life, of which she had had only two days' experience. She says her husband was always very reserved, but she was determined not to live with him. Her strange conduct is attributed to insanity by Dr. Chenoweth, who examined her. Kentucky friends of the lady have been sent for.

ST. LOUIS, June 10—The jury in the case of William Meagher, old man of 61 years, who killed his wife, nearly as old as himself, April 26, 1881, came into court, this morning, after being out some twenty-seven hours, and rendered a verdict of manslaughter in the fourth degree, and assessing punishment at two years in the penitentiary.

James Banks, the old negro who killed his wife, March 27, 1880, and who was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged, but whose case was recently reversed by the supreme court and a new trial granted, came into court to-day, pleaded guilty to murder in the second degree and was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. He is 70 years old.

PITTSBURG, June 10.—George Henderson, of McKeesport, died this morning from injuries received last Tuesday at the hands of Daniel O'Connell, John Merriman, John Coulson and another unidentified Hungarian, who, upon examination, discovered that the young man's deafness was directly attributable to the use of cigarettes. Every one smoked a great many cigarettes, and was accustomed to blow the smoke out through his nose. The examination disclosed the fact that several of the ducts leading from the nasal cavity to the seat of hearing were filled with nicotine. An operation will be performed in a few days, in the hope that hearing may be restored.

A Heavy Washout.

BALTIMORE, June 10.—A washout occurred last night on the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore railroad near Aberdeen, about thirty-three miles east of this city, which puts a stop to all trains. A large force was at once put to work to repair the break, and trains were at least to and from Philadelphia via the Pennsylvania and Northern Central railroad. The express train due last night reached this city about 11 o'clock today. It is expected that the damage will be repaired to-day, when trains will be run on regular time.

Diphtheria Epidemic.

DETROIT, June 10.—Diphtheria has become epidemic at Ludington, in this state. One hundred and twenty children have died recently in a population of 4,000 people. The schools are closed and special policemen are stationed at houses where sickness exists to prevent ingress and egress.

FEDERAL FACTS

ELIMINATED FROM THE WIRES.

The Administration Struggling with the Mahone Elephant—Evidences that the Young Man May Be Turned Adrift— A Legacy From Hayes.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—It is claimed by the readjusters and their republican friends that the administration has at last decided to help Mahone in Virginia. While the administration has not taken any definite ground, it is undoubtedly more favorable towards the readjusters than before their convention. The republican press has generally commended the readjusters' platform, which has had the same declarations in regard to the ballot, fair count and free schools, but does not like the plank reaffirming the belief in the Riddleberger bill. The parties who urge the president to recognize and help Mahone state that the financial part of the readjuster platform counts for nothing in the coming fight, and will not attract attention inside or outside of the state; that the voters who originally favored the readjuster party did so on the readjustment of the state debt, and the last convention had to make the concession to those voters of putting in the platform a declaration in favor of readjusting. It is urged that the fight is really between the bourbons and liberals The indications are that the administration will not act hurriedly as to Virginia. There is plenty of time, as the canvass will not open until August. Meantime, if the readjusters make their fight for a free ballot and a fair count, and not on the state debt, it is more than probable that the administration will favor them. Democrats generally say that they do not believe the administration will interfere in the Virginia fight. Several senators who are still here think Virginia should be left to settle her own internal politics.

The National Republican some time ago charged that the Mahone movement in Virginia was "halting," because, as it alleged, the field had bargained with the democratic senators not to give the aid of the federal patronage to Mahone. To-day the same journal says that the "president favors the coalition of the republicans and readjusters, and will give the latter all the possible support to the ticket nominated at the readjusters convention last week." The accounts on this point, given by persons here possessing good sources of information, are very contradictory. The National Republican's relations are so close to Mahone that the article of to-day may well be supposed to be gotten up in his interest, as the idea of the administration being against Mahone would be to his prestige with the press. The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette has, however, made the same statement. On the other hand, there is the best authority for stating that before the adjournment of the senate it took place that president had determined to have no alliance whatever with Mahone. A positive contradiction of any alliance or under-tanding with him seems to have been telegraphed by Secretary Blaine to Richmond, where the session of the late readjuster convention. In addition to this a prominent gentleman, who had an extended interview with the president some days ago, is positive in the feeling that the president has no idea of helping Mahone in his scheme of absorbing the republican party in Virginia by the readjuster party. It is noted that first Conkling and next Edmunds, neither of whom is friendly to the president have ostentatiously indorsed the Mahone movement Gorham, the daily assailant of the president, is his Washington mouth-piece. The alliance with Mahone was formed by Gorham and Don Cameron, before the inauguration many months ago. Their game is by means of Mahone and by using General Grant's name to capture the negro vote and the southern republican organizations, if it can be done, so as to help to break up the Garfield administration and shape results in 1884. All this and Mahone's relations to the stalwart leaders are perfectly well understood by the administration. Any encouragement therefore to Mahone would be like sending a battering ram to break their own heads with, whereas from the regular republican organization in Virginia, backed by the government patronage, they could always expect fair treatment, these considerations would be urged, while pulling down the republican party north with the odium of an alliance with repudiation are having their weight with the administration, and, would determine their action in favor of Blaine and the state republican organization in Virginia.

—Mr. Hayes, during his term of office, set an example of pardoning persons under sentence for offenses against the United States, that is likely to give some trouble to the present administration. Hayes issued 1,920 pardons, within four years, or an average of forty per month. Applications for pardons have continued to come in at the same rate since the 4th of March, but General Garfield has issued but two pardons up to date, and these were to moonshiners in a southern state who were convicted of defrauding the government in a small way. As a consequence of this failure, on the part of the executive, to appreciate their interests, the convicts threaten to bolt the party.

—There is no foundation for the story James Russell Lowell, minister to England, and Secretary Blaine are to exchange places. The story would hardly be worth denying was it not for the persistency with which it has been repeated for the past few days. It is confidently expected that Mr. Lowell will remain in England for the next four years. At least, Assistant Secretary Hitt said today: "Mr. Lowell is honored as a man and as a minister. His record in the diplomatic service is a most brilliant one." The president, who is a great admirer of Mr. Lowell, only needed an intimation that he would like to remain in England to decide that he should do so. Mr. Blaine desires to remain where he is until General Garfield's term expires, and there is no indication that he will leave the cabinet until a new president is elected. A great deal of harmless talk has been indulged in by the friends of Mr. Conkling, to the effect that the relations between the president and Mr. Blaine were impaired and that the latter would soon be compelled to retire. There is not an atom of fact to justify such assertions The secretary of state is building for himself a magnificent residence in the West End, where, during his official term, he will, with the assistance of Mrs. Blaine, entertain his friends appropriately with his official position.

—The intimation that Hon. Randolph Tucker received the money which Colonel Conkling charged was paid to a member of the ways and means committee to prevent legislation hostile to the sugar interests finds no believers here. Mr. Tucker is universally regarded as a man of strict integrity.

FOREIGN FLASHES.

A Resort to Dynamite in Liverpool—French Affairs.

LONDON, June 10.—A dispatch from Tipperary says Archbishop Croke, on his arrival there yesterday, was escorted from the railway station by members of the local land league with brass bands playing. A large crowd of people drew his carriage through the main streets. The archbishop addressed an enormous crowd, warned the people not to come in collision with the forces of the empire, not to give way to hooting and stone throwing, but to appeal to the enlightened conscience of Europe and America.

He declared he had no sympathy for those who could pay fair rent and would not.

Archbishop Croke in his address at Tipperary said it was the duty of the Irish party to pass the land bill, insisting only on such amendments to relate to arrears of rent and execution of rent courts. He advised the people to avoid all assemblages at evictions, sales, etc.

MR. JOYCE, secretary of Kilmallock, county of Limerick, branch of the land league, has been arrested under the coercion act.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

CORK, June 10.—Of the 43 rioters charged with taking part in last night's disturbances 22 have been sentenced to from 2 to 6 months imprisonment. The others were liberated on their own recognizances. The city is now quiet.

LORD ELCHO, the presiding magistrate to-day solemnly warned the people from the bench that if the riots were renewed the troops would be under military control, and any one causing damage would be treated as an act of warfare.

LIVERPOOL, June 10.—An attempt was made during last night to blow up the new jail in this city, but it only resulted in breaking the windows in the hall and in Brown's buildings on the opposite side of the street. It is reported that two men were arrested with a quantity of dynamite and loaded revolvers in their possession.

The persons captured in the attempt to blow up the town hall have been identified as Liverpool Irishmen, named McKeown and Roberts. Both were well supplied with money. Documents were found in their possession connecting them with Fenianism. Roberts has been for some years in America.

The attempt to blow up the town hall last night was similar to that recently made against the police station. A large piece of gas pipe, loaded with powder, was discharged by means of a fuse against the door. Two gas constables in the attempt were disturbed and pursued. One of them jumped into the canal. They were both captured, and were found to be armed with revolvers.

It is announced this evening that the prisoners who attempted to blow up the town hall will be charged under the "malicious injuries property act," which provides that punishment may, under certain circumstances which apply in this case, be life long imprisonment.

LONDON, June 10.—In the house of commons to-day Sir William V. Harcourt, home secretary, stated that both the Irishmen arrested in Liverpool this morning in connection with the attempt to blow up the town hall, recently arrived from America. Mr. Gladstone in replying to sir John Willmot, conservative, said there was no foundation whatever for the statement that the government intended to abandon portions of the land bill.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

The Cornell university four are dissatisfied with their exclusion from the race for the visitors' plate in the Hanley regatta, which they believe they could win. They doubt their ability to win the stewards' cup. Efforts will be made to secure their admission to contest for the visitors' plate.

FRANCE.

LONDON, June 10.—A Paris correspondent of the Times declares that the rejection of the scrutin de liste bill by the senate will not cause a conflict between the chambers.

The Republique Francaise, M. Gambetta's organ, admits the defeat of the party and compares the vote on the scrutin de liste in the senate yesterday to the reactionary proceedings of the 16th of May, 1877. The relations between the senate and chamber of deputies, it says, will now become greatly strained. The general election preceded, as it will be, by strong agitation will be averse to the senate if the pronounce in favor of the scrutin de liste. The article concludes as follows: We are not discouraged; we shall regain our liberty of action, and shall use it. Moderate journals declare that the question of scrutin de liste will not be referred to the electoral body, which is its natural judge. Irreconcilable and monarchists papers profess to regard the vote as putting an end to M. Gambetta's dictatorship. There are rumors current that M. Constans, minister of interior, M. Cezzi, minister of justice, and General Farre, minister of war, will tender their resignations and that M Gambetta will resign the presidency of the chamber of deputies.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

The rumors of the impending resignation of some of the ministers is unconfirmed.

La France and other journals consider that public opinion in relation to the scrutin de liste bill will be rapidly calmed down, and they declare the question has in no way excited the country.

TUNIS.

Special dispatch to The Constitution.

LONDON, June 10.—A dispatch from Tunis to to the Daily News says the Franco-Tunisian treaty has been ratified. M. Roustan, the French minister has informed the foreign representatives here that the bey by special decree has appointed him sole intermediary for the transaction of business with them.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, June 10.—The reichstag to-day rejected by 158 to 104, the credit demanded by Prince Bismarck for the establishment of an economic council.

RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 10.—Private telegrams have been received announcing the outbreak of disturbances at Kharkoff and other towns in southern Russia. Several incendiary fires are reported.

TURKEY.

SOPHIA, June 10.—An encounter has taken place between the Turkish troops and the Bulgarian bands in Macedonia, in which eight Turks and thirteen Bulgarians were killed.

MONETARY MATTERS.

No Expectation of Gold Exports—The Movement in the Stock Market.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The Commercial Bulletin says: "There is now no expectation that gold will be exported this year. There is a great deal of exchange yet to be drawn against the bonds placed in Europe, and the exchange from this source is expected to tide the market over until the bullion drafts begin to appear. United States bonds were heavy in the morning and strong in the afternoon.

State bonds were steady, and railroad bonds were generally higher. In the stock market the active list moved irregularly, and was sent out that the Vanderbilt roads will, tomorrow, withdraw from the trunk line pool, but at this writing no confirmation of this possible source, it had only a temporary effect, and in the late dealings the market became strong, and so closed, with many of the stocks at the highest figures of the day.

ALL AROUND US.

WHAT THE PEOPLE ARE DOING.

The Blind Man of Dark Corner—A Discovery of Diamonds—Cutting Affrays Reported from Bainbridge—The Army Worm— What the Press Says.

By Mail and Wire to The Constitution.

—The Presbyterian church was handsomely decorated this morning, as the commencement exercises of Rome female college took place there The literary address was delivered by Dr. David Wills of Atlanta, to a large audience. The doctor's subject was, "The Ideal of a Perfect Woman." He advocated the idea that woman should occupy her proper sphere, and not engage in masculine vocations. The five elements which make up the character of our ideal of a perfect woman are discretion, amiability, health, industry and charity. The address was a splendid piece of word painting, and was well received. Dr. Wills made many warm friends during his stay in the city.

—The graduating class of 1881 was composed of the following young ladies: Misses Hallie Alexander, Jessie Campbell, Mary Lou Colclough, Eugenia Franks, Mattie Holmes, Maggie Huffaker, Mary Kincaid, Edna Lovelace Evelyne Lovelace, Pinkie Morrison, Eugenia Scott, Willie Starling, Etta Thomas, Mary West, and Florence Young. To-night, at the opera house, in presence of a large audience, the twenty-fifth annual concert of the college took place. The music, both vocal and instrumental, was very fine, and Professor Snow is to be congratulated upon the splendid success of the entertainment. Thus closed the commencement exercises of an institution that has long been an honor to our city.

—This morning as the steamer Magnolia was on her way to our city the captain, Benjamin H. Elliot, discovered a human head projecting above the water at Horsely shoals about two miles below the city. Upon examination it proved to be the body of little Jeff. Williamson, who was drowned in the Oostanaula Monday afternoon. The body was brought to the city and the funeral occurred this afternoon. Alderman Williamson has the sympathy of all our people in this sad calamity.—— Superior court opens on Monday.—— "Sweet girl" graduates are quite numerous just now. The commencement exercises of Shorter college open to-morrow night, when the exhibition of the primary department will take place at the opera house.

THOMASTON, June 9.—The first commencement of our school children's afternoon took place this week. Rev. R. J. Willingham, of Talbotton, preached the commence ment sermon in the chapel of the institute. On Monday evening were the exercises of the Busy Bee society. On Tuesday occurred the prize declamation and the reading for the "Logan medal." Tuesday evening there was an entertainment by the Polymnian society, and the young ladies surprised Professor Harrison by presenting him with a silver goolet as a slight token of their regards. On Wednesday occurred the junior and senior exhibition and the awarding of the prizes, which were as follows: The best scholar, Mr. Frank Oliphant; as the best orator, Master Powell Clay; as the best reader, the "Logan medal," to Miss Emma Andrews. The course of four years marked out by the board of trustees was completed by three of the pupils, to-wit: Miss Mattie Gibson, Messrs. Wiley Cunningham and Frank Oliphant. Yesterday evening the "Lady of Lyons" was presented by the Polymnia and Hertonic club for the benefit of the Polymnia society. This evening there is a reunion of the pupils at the hall of the institute, and the exercises have been pronounced a grand success.

VALDOSTA, June 8.—That our town is rapidly improving needs only to be proven by a casual survey of the improvements going on. There are five handsome dwellings now in course of construction with talk of others soon to begin. Valdosta is a beautiful town, with a population of nearly 2,000, and being noted for her pleasant climate, good water, genial, hospitable and enterprising citizens, she is certain to attract the attention of those in search of new homes or winter resorts.——Our popular and efficient hotel man, Mr C T Stuart, is adding another story to the well-known Stuart house. This will make the building three stories high, and will add very much to the appearance of the town. Mr. Stuart could not supply the demands made upon him last winter, hence he is determined to give the public a more commodious, better furnished and, if possible, a better managed hotel than ever before.

BAINBRIDGE, June 8.—Our colored people are getting warlike. Last week Hulum Harrell popped his pocket-knife into the shoulder of Rev. M. McIntyre, a colored Baptist preacher, inflicting a painful but not dangerous wound. Cause, jealousy.——Last night George Williams inserted his pocket cutlery in the hide of Sampson McFarland. The wound is painful though not mortal. Cause, quarrel about a knife.—Today rumor has it that an effort was made by an incendiary to destroy the court house in Camilla. The floor in front of the ordinary's room was saturated with kerosene and set on fire. The private watchman of the merchants discovered the flames in time to save the building. The board of county commissioners offer a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the incendiary. No clue as to who the rascally perpetrator was so far.

DAHLONEGA, June 8.—On top of the Blue Ridge at the line between Lumpkin and Fannin counties, there was discovered six or seven years ago what is called the army worm. It occupied a small patch there, but has enlarged its circuit from year to year, till now this army of worms has extended some fifteen miles along the Blue Ridge, and eight or ten miles north and southnow in three miles of Dahlonega. The foliage on all the trees is destroyed more or less by the worm, but the leaves on the hickory, apple and walnut trees are entirely stripped in most cases. This worm is about two inches long, and a little smaller round than a common-sized goose quill; in color some are green, yellowish, dark brown and black. The track of this army looks black and desolate indeed—as if visited by a recent hail storm.

DARK CORNER, Oconee county, June 8.—I think Walton county can step to the front in the way of a blind man—blind from infancy—for pluck and energy. I don't think he has an equal in the United States. His name is Arrasmus C. Wright. He can, with his own hands and without any assistance whatever, make as good a wagon as can be put up in the state; or do any kind of cooperage. The above can be substantiated by hundreds of the citizens of the county. As there will be, as it were, a world's fair in your city next fall, it would be well to offer him some inducements to have one of his wagons ou exhibition at the exposition.

CONYERS, June 10.—Rockdale carries the banner. W. L. Peck, our representative, to-day ships by express to commissioner of agriculture at Atlanta and also to Washington, D. C., the first new flour of the season, made from the wheat crop of 1881. This flour is ground from wheat raised upon a five acre plat which produced twenty-eight bushels per acre. A progressive man always meets with corresponding rewards.

ATHENS, June 9.—Rev. E. M. B. Browne has delivered very instructive and interesting lectures in our city.——Part of the annual board of visitors have arrived and are occupied with their duties.——Many of Athens' fair daughters are in visits to sister cities, to return before commencement.——Messrs. S. C. Reese and S. M. Herrington are confined to their homes by severe attacks of illness.——Mr. H. S. Hughes will sell some desirable building lots belonging to his former residence next week at auction.

SENECA, June 9.—Parties mining for gold five miles from this place found, twenty feet below the surface, seventeen diamonds, said to be equal to the African diamonds. They were pronounced by Fox & Co., of New York, genuine. One weighed twenty-six grains The lucky party was an Englishman, Mr. Joseph Ramey.

What the Papers Say.

DeKalb News.

Decatur is infested with crazy people of late. For several days last week a white man, calling himself President Hayes, strolled around our streets acting in a most extraordinary manner, attracting the attention of all he met and frightening the ladies and children. He has a trick of carrying large rocks about with him which he terms to sell on. He turns over in the street and acts altogether in a very crazy manner, though sometimes he talks quite rationally. He claims to be the possessor of some great secret, but has stated. He also says his business here is to regulate the sun, and for this purpose he sits about on the streets watching it the greater part of the day. He is roughly dressed and has the appearance of a tramp, and some think his madness is feigned.

Eastman Times.

A few days ago while Mrs. John Burch, of Laurens county, was breaking some guinea eggs for the purpose of cooking, she was agreeably surprised on emptying the contents of one egg to find that in addition to the usual white and yelk, that it also contained a small egg about the size of a common bird egg, with a perfect shell, and about the shape and color of a guinea egg. This egg (the small one) was exhibited to the writer by Mrs. B., from whom we obtained the above information, and who told us furthermore that there was nothing specially noticeable about the egg before breaking it, except that it was larger than the average guinea egg.

The survey of the extension of the Northeastern railroad is now being made, and bids will be received up to noon of June 25th, for the grading and masonry of the first section of the extension. This includes all that part of the road lying between its junction with the Air-Line, near the 76th mile post, and the town of Clarksville, a distance of seven miles. Profiles and specifications are in the office of Colonel G. J. Foreacre, president, Atlanta. The contract to be let calls for the completion of the work by the first of November next. The work from Clarksville to Talulah falls will be ready to be let within sixty days. Thus it will be seen that the Richmond and Danville are going right ahead with the work of extending the Northeastern.

LaGrange Reporter.

The ordinance of the city of LaGrange requiring $15,000 for license to sell liquor was repealed last Friday, and the license reduced to $500 Three of the councilmen voted against repealing and three for it. The mayor cast the deciding vote. A great many citizens were indifferent to the action of the council, some favored it and others bitterly opposed it. No license has yet been issued, and we do not know who will be the first to apply for it. The law which has been in operation here has not been as effectual as its projectors anticipated, and for that reason it was repealed. There is no doubt, however, that it has effected good by removing the temptation from those who would not drink unless bar-rooms were convenient. All who were addicted to drinking procured liquor elsewhere whenever they could not get it in LaGrange. Liquor is no doubt one of the most destructive commodities known, and various means have been devised to prevent its use to excess. But however vigilant officials may be, those who want it will procure it, and dealers will elude the letter of the law. The Reporter has always been an advocate of temperance, and we regret that the law could not give the benefits hoped for.

Hawkinsville Dispatch.

On Friday last, Elijah Gordon, colored, reached Hawkinsville after an absence of about ten years in Liberia. About ten years ago a large party of colored people left Hawkinsville for Liberia—a country recresented to them as the "land of promise"—five thousand miles across the "briny deep." In the party were Cæsar Brown and his wife, grandfather and grandmother of Elijah Gordon, "little granny," and two uncles and two aunts. "Lige" was then only about eight or nine years of age. He is now about eighteen or nineteen years of age, has some education, and can tell a great deal about his life in Liberia. Cæsar Brown and his wife are dead, "little granny" has also passed away, and his two uncles and two aunts have also found graves in that far-off land. "Lige's" father is Charles Gordon, a well-to-do colored man of this county, and last Christmas Charles sent his boy fifty dollars to pay his passage from Liberia to New York. The vessel was forty-one days on the trip—the distance estimated at five thousand five hundred miles. Lige says that the emigrants on reaching Liberia take the fever, and many of them die. Nearly all of them would return immediately if they had the money He describes the climate as very warm—no difference between summer and winter. Coffee and ginger are the only money crops. The people live on fruits and "casadas," a kind of root something like the sweet potato. These crops are never gathered, but taken from the ground as they are wanted for food. Flows are not used in the cultivation of the land. Lige says a cotton seed planted when they arrived ten years ago, made a large stalk, which grew like a tree, and was still growing and bearing cotton when he left. The people have no stock. The natives subsist in a nude state—living upon the natural products of the land, and are separated by tribes which hate each other and are continually at war. He does not like the country by importing any, as the united efforts of the immigrants after they have seen the country, are devoted to plans or means to obtain money to return to the United States on. But we saw last Monday a letter from Prince Williamson to his father, old Jim Williamson, of this county telling him that Liberia is a great country, and advising all the family to fix up and go out to it

Gazette and News.

There is a wiry little fellow with wings, but without any apparel more than a paper collar and a pair of spurs, whose name is Cupid, and he has a very extensive field for his operations. This little ruler of hearts plays sad havoc sometimes with the affections of his worshippers, and he does not always display that respect for the moral law that the good of society demands. Of one of this little god's freaks we have something to say. Not long after the war a lady who lived in upper Georgia loved and duly married a man, whom, on account of the novelty of the name, we shall call Smith. The course of married life ran smooth enough until the husband's health began to fail—his disease being supposed affection of the lungs. A trip to Florida was decided upon, but the wife being unable to accompany him, Mr. Smith had to go alone. After a comparatively short absence Mrs. Smith received information of her husband's death, and she proceeded to wind up his affairs. The widow truly mourned the loss of her loved companion, but time softened her grief, and two years of a lonely life finds her attending school upon system book. Mr. Norman, we will call the name, wooed and won the fair widow, and the hymeneal vows were duly solemnized. In two lives happily together, and blessed the fates for uniting them. The railroad to Elberton brought many strangers, and with the first came our friend Mr. Norman. Here they lived comfortably and happily for two or three years. But finally an event happened that cast a cloud over their happiness, and well nigh distracted the wife. One day a relative of the lady visited them, whose agitation was sufficiently marked to excite comment. Calling the husband and wife into a room and closing and locking the door, he produced a letter addressed to Mrs. Smith, and directed "Logan medal," to Miss Emma Andrews. The course of four years marked out by the board of trustees was completed by three of the pupils, to-wit: Miss Mattie Gibson, Messrs. Wiley Cunningham and Frank Oliphant. Yesterday evening the "Lady of Lyons" was presented by the Polymnia and Hertonic club for the benefit of the Polymnia society. This evening there is a reunion of the pupils at the hall of the institute, and the exercises have been pronounced a grand success.

ARKANSAS JOINS IN

Imitating Some of the Shining Virtues of Texas Manhood.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 10.—The county assessor and two other citizens of Perry county reached this city at noon to-day, claiming they had been compelled to flee for their lives. They were captured yesterday and roughly handled by their captors, who threatened to hang them this morning. They managed last night to elude the vigilance of their guards, and reached this city to-day in a deplorable condition. Their feet were bleeding and torn, they having walked the entire distance barefooted. Great indignation exists among the law abiding portion of the community. Governor Churchill will adopt summary measures to put down the outlaws.

Major-General Robert C. Newton, commanding state militia, has been ordered by Governor Churchill to Perry county to report upon the situation there. Reports this morning state that excitement prevails. Desperadoes there have armed themselves and declared their determination to prevent the return of Harris and Mathews to the county. Further trouble is feared, and the governor will depend on the report of General Newton. Serious trouble is apprehended.

HAYS WHITE, who murdered Sheriff W. F. Beattie in Crittenden county, Arkansas, April 21, was hanged at Marion this afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the presence of 2,000 persons, 1,500 of whom were colored. The condemned man made a speech from the gallows, confessing the killing, but denying any knowledge that it was Sheriff Beattie whom he shot until he afterwards saw him lying dead. It will be remembered that Sheriff Beattie was trying to effect the arrest of White, who was charged with burglary, and had made his escape from a colored constable, who was taking him to jail a few days previous. Sheriff Beattie was shot down by White as he entered his cabin at daylight on the date mentioned. A colored minister prayed with the condemned man on the gallows. White then sang a hymn, which was joined in by the colored people present. The black cap was then arranged by the sheriff, who asked White if he was ready, to which he replied: "Yes, good-bye to all." The rope was cut and White was launched into eternity. The fall, although six feet, did not break his neck, and he died of strangulation. The body, after hanging eighteen minutes, was cut down and delivered to his friends for burial.

A Circus Runaway.

AURORA, Ill., June 10.—Great excitement was created this forenoon, during the parade of Forepaugh & Sells' circus, by running away of a four-horse team drawing the car containing the "sea cow." They started east of the railroad crossing and ran west across both bridges, the streets being full of people. On the island they collided with a wagon and took off the fore wheel, but did

The Constitution

Never in our history has a reliable, first-class newspaper been so essentially needed by the Southern people as at present.

Never has THE CONSTITUTION been as thoroughly equipped and so fully prepared to furnish such a paper as at present.

With telegraphic service unequalled by any Southern paper; with trained Correspondents in every locality in which its readers are interested

With a capable Editorial Staff, a corps of efficient Reporters, and the best of "special" contributors, THE CONSTITUTION can promise to its readers that it will be better than ever before, and will confirm its position as the leading Southern newspaper.

While THE CONSTITUTION will carry the general news of the day, and express its opinions frankly on political topics, it will devote special attention to the development of Southern resources in all legitimate channels or directions.

Every Georgian and every man interested in Southern enterprise and growth should read THE CONSTITUTION in one of its editions.

Address THE CONSTITUTION, Atlanta, Ga.

Entered as second-class matter in the Atlanta post-office. December 11, 1879.

ATLANTA GA., JUNE 11, 1881.

THE first car of new wheat was received at St. Louis yesterday. It came from the neighborhood of Fort Worth, Texas.

THE Herdics have collapsed. Their wonderful axles have come to grief, and the entire enterprise is a failure. The organized company in Philadelphia has a receiver, and Congressman Kelley, one of its most enthusiastic stockholders, is a heavy loser. Thus passes away another dream of urban transit.

THE stock of the Georgia road was listed by the governing committee of the New York stock exchange on Wednesday. There is now scarcely a mile of railroad track in the state that is now owned and controlled by its people. We do not say that this is a lamentable fact—we speak of it simply as a fact, new to a people that once owned all their railroads.

POOR, unhappy Ireland is actually in a condition of civil war, although the coercion policy has hardly been begun. Its future condition, when evictions are attempted by the hundred, can be better imagined than described. Archbishop Croke yesterday gave the people very good advice, and it is a pity that both sides could not see the matter as he sees it, and thus avoid a deal of trouble and bloodshed.

THERE are many who predict that the prevailing railroad boom is ephemeral and unhealthy, but such people forget that while the country has been getting rich and populous, there has been very little railroad building since 1873. The railroad projectors are now making up for lost time; and there are no good grounds for believing that they are ahead, or likely soon to be ahead, of the development of the country. The bears will have to wait.

THE deadlock in New York was enlivened yesterday by a bribery investigation. Thus far the testimony is very conflicting, and it is difficult to say what the truth is. The money involved, $2,000, has been handed over to the comptroller of the state, and no doubt it will become a historic sum before it is disposed of. Mr. Depew's increasing vote alarms the stalwarts, but there are really no indications of an election. The deadlock costs the people of New York $3,000 a day, but it seems destined to last all summer even if it does come high.

Cotton Culture in the Old World.

The report of General P. M. B. Young, as one of the United States commissioners to the Paris universal exposition of 1878, comes to us in the shape of a neat pamphlet, beautifully printed, and with marginal references. The report is devoted wholly to cotton culture—to a consideration and description of the varieties of the staple on exhibition at Paris, and the information thus given is of absorbing interest to the planters of the south. The commission found that the cottons on exhibition were not as good a representation of the cotton products of the world as might have been reasonably expected. The cottons of the United States were much the best in the exposition, but they were by no means a fair sample of what the south produces. The United States government was somewhat tardy in accepting the invitation to be represented, and the planters and boards of trade in the south were given such short notice in consequence that only a very small quantity of the staple could be collected. Nearly all the crop of 1877 had found its way to the manufactories and the finest grades were out of reach. The samples, therefore, that could be procured for exhibition were not only small but decidedly inferior in quality to that which might have been gathered together under different circumstances. The section embraced by Mississippi and Texas was not represented at all, and New Orleans sent only a box of samples showing the grades of classification. The bale of uplands sent by the Memphis board of trade had been carefully handled in picking and packing and was awarded the first prize.

A small, but most interesting display was made of India cottons. The samples that most attracted the attention of Commissioner Young were from Mahsatta and Dhurwar. They were clean and bright, but, like most of the Indian cottons, coarse and short. The cotton in nearly all the Indian provinces has been greatly improved by the introduction of American seed.

The most remarkable specimen of cotton Commissioner Young found in the exposition was a variety known as the Bamich, said to be a cross between the okra plant and cotton. It said to be the custom in Egypt to plant okra in the cotton fields. As the result of this, a few years ago a planter discovered cotton bolls growing upon the stalks of okra. He gathered this and planted the seeds of the hybrid variety, and the result was a cotton short and coarse, but very prolific. The commissioner was told that this variety produces at least one-third more to the acre than the ordinary cotton of Egypt. The okra stalk is much taller and stronger than the cotton stalk, and produces more and shorter branches. The staple is short, coarse and woolly, and the seed are black and small. It is probable that this variety might be planted with profit in the south; indeed steps have been taken to test it, and if it should prove a success, seed can be procured from the commissioner of agriculture.

Statistics given in Commissioner Young's report show that the culture of cotton in Egypt is rapidly falling off, while that of Italy is not increasing rapidly enough to warrant the belief that the cotton production of that country can ever compete with that of the southern states. The concluding portion of Commissioner Young's pamphlet is devoted to the statistics of cotton consumption in Europe. The facts and figures he gives are of great interest, but we have not space to present even a summary of them here.

The June Cultivator.

The June number of the Southern Cultivator made its appearance several days ago, but as its articles are nearly always of permanent interest and value, it is not necessary to accompany the publication of each issue with an elaborate notice. The contents, in addition to their permanent value, have a timely significance that can only be appreciated by those who are engaged in agriculture in the south.

The editor has the first place with his thoughts for the month, and this is followed by articles on cultivating cotton cheaply, experience with small grain, labor-saving machinery, improved agricultural tools, true and false economy, cost of building and filling a silo, experiments with nitrogen, ensilage in North Carolina, concrete walls, precautions against draught, pyrethrum as an insect destroyer, experiments with ensilage, and the English sparrow.

Among other things there are interesting articles on the treatment of a buggy horse, the breeding of Jerseys and Guernseys, molasses for the dairyman, corn meal and clover hay, the shape of the deep milking cow. In addition to this the poultry, horticultural, the household and the inquiry departments are crowded with valuable hints, suggestions and facts.

FRED GRANT is no longer a summer colonel. He is building a railroad in Texas.

THE New York Tribune tells the republicans how to end the deadlock. This uneasiness is natural. The deadlock is the latest form for a democratic campaign document.

LOUISIANA witnesses are needed in Albany.

THE governor of North Carolina is a temperance man, and if he holds out it will be a mighty long time between drinks.

MR SCHURZ should employ a paragrapher.

THE friends of John James Piatt, the poet, are disposed to deny that he is a citizen of Ohio; but it is the opinion of the best judges that the man is culpable.

VICE-PRESIDENT ARTHUR should make his recent career symmetrical by organizing a faro bank.

THE symptoms are that a Conkling man ups and snorts when he is offered a bribe.

SENATOR SHERMAN made a very bold speech in Ohio Tuesday. He is the same man who ate the leek during the campaign in New York last year. Our statesmen are very versatile.

GOVERNOR FOSTER, of Ohio, has plenty of time to rush around and help manage affairs at Washington.

"OLIVE LOGAN," says the New Haven Register, "will never be young again." Well, good gracious! hasn't she been young about sixty years? Such an experience as this is calculated to enfeeble the stoutest of us.

BOSTON men never give their seats to ladies on the street cars. A Boston man can think only when he is sitting flat footed.

THE Chicago papers have published their own version of the New Testament.

IT is now charged that the president is making too free with a poker-player named Boynton. After all, this is a great improvement over some of Hayes's associates.

THE latest story is that Conkling uses his curl to cover a mistake made by the hind foot of a pet pony.

THE weather bureau predicted rain for the south Atlantic states yesterday. As Atlanta is now one of the middle states, it is impossible to say whether the prediction was verified.

AND now Austria refuses to recognize the gentility of the American hog. These effete monarchies are growing overbold.

—Pere Hyacinthe sails for the United States in September, having been invited by members of different churches to give a series of conferences in the larger cities of America. Mme Loyson accompanies him. In addition to Pere Hyacinthe there are two other distinguished clergymen attached to the Gallican church in the Rue d' Arras, one a young American priest from New Orleans, who preaches equally well in French and English. This rapidly growing church has need of funds for its development and extension. It is mainly for this reason that Pere Hyacinthe is coming to America.

Voices From Georgia.

Augusta Chronicle.

This is the year to adopt Horace's maxim: "Nil Admirari," that is, Wonder at Nothing.

Augusta Evening News.

General Stovall favors the idea of Augusta manufacturers making full exhibits at the exposition, and in addition to this he encourages the bringing of delegations of practical manufacturers from the exposition to Augusta, in order to show them what we are doing and what we can do. A sight of our canal and its mills would be a revelation to visitors, and to men who understand the manufacturing business it would be an ample demonstration of the living fact that Augusta is the manufacturing center of the south. By taking advantage and hold of these opportunities, Augusta would be properly represented and benefited in untold ways, while by standing still and taking no co-operative interest in the exposition, Augusta would be passed over, and those Atlanta fellows would throw all kinds of dust in the eyes of visitors.

Athens Banner.

The assertion is occasionally heard in the south that northern editors are disinclined toward the contributions of southern writers per se. To any one who knows the thoroughly commercial principles that underlie, and, if it is to be successful, must underlie, the publishing business, this needs no comment. It is moreover stated as a fact that Scribner has in its safe enough live material by southern contributors to make up three or four numbers of the magazine, and, judging from the lists of contributors for the last ten years in the other magazines and reviews, there is no reason to think this state of affairs exceptional. The truth is that good material is in demand from any source, and where MSS. are declined, the reason must be sought for elsewhere than in any sectional prejudice of the editor.

Cotton Manufactures in the South.

New York Herald.

The census returns show that during the past decade the south has made more rapid strides in cotton manufactures than either the country at large or New England, the great center of industry in America. The progress that it has made, and promises to make, suggests the very important inquiry whether the south has not at last set out upon that course which in time must lead to the achievement of one of the great possibilities that nature has put within its reach. That the American cotton crop should be sent raw to English mills and returned manufactured to distantantic markets is as abnormal and unnatural as that water should run up hill. The supremacy which England now holds in the manufacture of cotton must sooner or later—so far, at least, as American cotton is concerned—be transferred to this country, where it properly belongs. The time may be distant, but its coming is inevitable. The consumption of cotton by American mills is steadily and rapidly increasing, and will continue to increase until the entire crop is manufactured in the United States. While this supremacy may first pass from old England to New England it is a question whether it will not then shift from the latter to the southern states. To this ascendancy New England has no peculiar right or claim. The south has natural advantages which New England has not, and it can acquire all the advantages which New England has.

Minimum Interest.

New York World.

Our special cable dispatches this morning say that Mr. Gladstone in his speech with the announcement in his budget speech, will shortly submit a scheme for reducing the interest on the government annuities. A similar experiment was tried just before the Crimean war, when 2½ per cent. annuities were issued for the redemption of 3 per cents. The issue was not very successful, the war upsetting the market. It is believed that under the new scheme Mr. Gladstone will issue 2½ per cents to the amount of £50,000,000, and make a further issue if the first one is taken up anywhere near par. He would not have to offer more favorable time than the present for the experiment. The rate of interest is steadily falling all over the civilized world, and, as the prices of sound securities on the markets both of Europe and of the United States clearly show, people who desire to buy sound securities four or at anything near par of their face value must be content with much lower rates of income than current even a very few years ago. There can be no doubt, we presume, that a three per cent funding bill will be adopted by congress next winter, and if Mr. Gladstone's experiment succeeds, our financiers will do well to ask themselves why the United States should pay even a quarter of one per cent per annum more than Great Britain for money.

Canvassing for Mr. Davis's Work.

Mobile Register.

A canvasser for Mr. Jefferson Davis's new book came to signal grief in one of the northern counties of Mississippi, when he encountered a native who insisted that Mr. Davis could not have written the book, seeing that "he was kill during the war," which recalls the good story of Judge Wiley P. Harris, who returned to Missis ippi after voting against the Kansas-Nebraska bill, sure that the people would have fixed upon him and not quite certain as to his reception. The first man he met was a prominent local politician and leader in his beat. The judge approached him timidly and shook hands. The local leader was delighted to meet him. "Wiley, I'm powerful glad to see you; where have you been all this time?" "I am in congress, you know, and I have been in Washington," said the judge. "Why, how you?" replied the local; "I missed you from here, but I thought you had gone to Texas, and was on the Guadaloup along o' your Uncle Buck."

The New Spoils Theory.

New York World.

Under Garfield and Blaine we have reached a peculiar stage in the development of party schemes and operations. Hitherto the rule has been that the "spoil" of a successful conflict belonged to the victors in that conflict. It was not a noble rule. It has done a great deal to debase politics, as a similar rule in war degrades armies to mere bands of brigands. But it was a rule that seemed to commend itself to the average human nature of the American people, and it has grown into respectable modifications. As it passes away we may fairly say of it that it was at least honorable and high-minded by comparison with the one that succeeds it. For it is passing away and the spoils now are given, not to the victors in the conflict, but to the fellows who whined in the rear and nosed out the enemy's baggage when the battle was over.

The Way to Spend Summer.

New York Herald.

The days in which all fashionable people flock to two or three summer resorts and endured all sorts of inconveniences rather than not be with a great crowd are gone Nowadays a well-to-do family seeks summer recreation at some place where it may have a spacious house and grounds all to itself. The great resorts of a few years ago were cities of hotels, but now the most attractive of them are cities of cottages, among which Newport is the most conspicuous example, and as these are unequal at present to the demand, almost every desirable spot among the hills or by the water, within several hours of large cities, is occupied by country residences of city people. An exodus to these means benefit to all concerned; the inmates live in perfect comfort and the natives rejoice in the appearance of more money than they see in all the year besides.

The Girls of Tennessee.

New York Sun.

The girls of Tennessee are lovely, but we tell them frankly it won't do. They had a ball last week in Nashville in honor of sixteen young ladies, and it appears that twelve of the lot habitually write their Christian name as Sallie, Minnie, Mamie, Callie, Maggie, Nettie, and so on. This is alarming. If the girls are rich as well as beauteous they may perhaps get married to fellows named Charlie, Johnnie, Tommie, Freddie, Willie or Harrie, but who will guarantee their felicity afterward? It only solid ground for the hope of bliss in this world is a firm character and a good education; and we fear that no girl who spells her name in such a silly manner can possess those qualifications.

Senator Fair, of Nevada.

Sacramento Bee.

Senator Fair is not an orator, neither is he a statesman, but he is a thorough going man of business, and, therefore, presumably of good sense and judgment. His voice will not be heard by admiring audiences in the senate of the United States, but when it comes to voting, we venture to say that he will weigh the subject well, and, as a rule, his judgment will lead him to vote right on questions where party is not at issue. His recent utterance in regard to the sensation at Washington is in keeping with this opinion of him. He said: "It is a dandy gimcrack. But if I had a say, I should hold that it was an attempt to humiliate Mr. Garfield, which would not succeed."

Characteristic

Carroll County Times.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, with that enterprise characteristic of the paper, has secured the pen of the Hon. H. V. M. Miller, who is now en route to Europe, as commissioner for the cotton exposition, to write a series of letters on the practical industries and commercial and agricultural interests of England, and Lord Dr. Livingstone, who will take an European trip, at an early day, will write for it a series of letters on special topics, beginning with the "Lost Tribes" of Ireland, and ending with the Nihilism of Russia.

Hints for the Thoughtful.

Chattanooga Times.

There is a great deal of northern capital now seeking investment in the south. The cotton exposition at Atlanta will bring hundreds of the men who owns this capital within easy reach of us, and where they can be induced to examine the situation for themselves These hints, it seems to us, are worthy of some consideration.

Prefer Them Straight.

Washington Post

Speaking of the readjuster ticket in Virginia, the Cincinnati Commercial says "the impression grows that Mahone is a pretty good mixer." Unfortunately for Mr. Mahone, however, the bourbons of that section, and republicans as well, are in the habit of taking theirs "straight."

A Matter of Location.

Manchester Union.

The great question in republican party politics just now is, shall Maine and Ohio boss New York?

Ethel.

A winsome little maiden played
By the moist margin of the restless sea.
Her bare feet kissed the sands and grew
At each coy touch from white to sea-shell pink,
And when a seagull circling flew
About her head with lingering waft of wing,
She tossed her slender arms in glee,
With lightsome laughter at the frightened thing.

Over the radiant sea the sun
Made royal pathway from his morning throne
To cast his splendor at her feet.
Again she laughed—a hushed and happy laugh—
A laugh no echo could repeat.
It fell like rippling sunshine on the air,
And as she paused to mark the tone
The sunshine laughed in ripples through her hair.

A wondrous maiden Ethel was;
A look lay cradled in her gray eyes true
That made kind people pause and say,
"Thy gentle mother, child, ere thou wast born
Was wont to gaze far, far away.
While swelled and flowed her heart's deep-tided sea.
Between the only shores it knew—
From love that was to love that was to be."

Ethel, the weary woman, stood
By the dark border of the restless sea
With tired hands loose clasped and eyes—
Ah! rare gray eyes, more faithful far than blue—
Low-leveled on the hopeful skies
She stood and let the Spirit of the Night
Breathe o'er her, till its mystery
Transfigured weariness to rapt delight.

The twilight of a vanished smile
Still o'er her features cast its thoughtful grace,
While sunset messengers of rest
With glory touched her hair—bright hair,
The color sunshine loves, and best
Enhaloes with a softened aureole,
As if an angel kissed her face.
There shone the beauty of her woman's soul.

Time's touch had beautified her brow,
As clouds give beauty that clear skies ne'er claim,
As earn is lovelier for rain.
Her heart was used to aching and grown strong
With many a sorrowful joy of pain
For others long had known.
And patiently
She stood, while soft the evening came
Across the shadowed waters of the silent sea.

"And what can you tell about St. Jacobs Oil?" said one of our oldest subscribers This was a fair question, and we answer, that we are reliably informed that a gentleman of this city who has suffered untold agony and spent a mint of money to get relief from Rheumatism, in desperation bought some and tried it, and declares that it is the best remedy for Rheumatism he ever heard of.

—One of the best stories incident to the publication of the revised New Testament is told at the expense of the pious bulls and bears of Wall street. Some enterprising fellow bought several thousand copies of the old version and, putting them into new bindings, did a thriving business at 140 per cent, peddling them among the brokers for the new version. It is wickedly believed that the same trick could not have been played upon any other class of business men.

—It is probable that the company of the Court theater at Saxe Meiningen, Germany, now performing in London, will be brought to this country next season. The organization is popular in Germany, is in the employ of the duke of Saxe-Meiningen, and is remarkable for the perfection of detail with which it performs Shakspeare and other standard dramas. The duke is an enthusiast in stage affairs, and has trained his actors to a high degree of perfection; but whether they would draw or please American audiences is an open question, since no one of them possesses any special reputation on this side of the water.

—The devastating war on the Pacific coast of South America, between Peru and Chili, will probably be followed by a struggle on the Atlantic side of that continent. The relations between Brazil and the Argentine Confederation are, to use a diplomatic word "strained." The trouble began on the river Parana, where a vessel of war of the Argentine republic opened fire on the Brazilian steamer Inca, for an alleged infraction of etiquette in the matter of a salute. Not content with this open attack the Argentine sailors insulted the Brazilians by calling them "monkeys." The two powers, who were allies a few years ago to destroy the republic of Paraguay, are now mutually jealous and unfriendly, and it is more than probable that this little affair may be made the excuse for actual hostilities.

—The suit against the Catholic church property of the Cincinnati diocese, brought by the assignee of Archbishop Purcell, was called in the common pleas court at Cincinnati, Tuesday. The suit is against all property which is held in trust by the archbishop, and includes churches, schools, houses, hospitals, cemeteries and such city and other property as has been given by benevolent persons for the use of the church, and has been held in trust by the archbishop The creditors represented by the assignee number about five thousand, and their claims aggregate four million dollars The suit will, by agreement, go at once to a higher court The chief point at issue—one which it is said has never been decided in the courts—is whether property held in trust by a bishop of the church is liable for his debts.

CELERY

As a Remedy for Nervous Diseases.

WHAT THE MEDICAL PROFESSION SAY ABOUT IT,

—AND—

The Good Results Attending Its Use

—IN—

Headache, Neuralgia, Nervousness, Indigestion, Sleeplessness and Paralysis.

CELERY has come into public notice within the last few years as a nervine, but scientific experiments and experience have proved beyond a doubt that it controls nervous irritation and periodic nervous and sick headaches to a marked degree

Brown-Sequard says that Celery contains more nerve food than any other vegetable or substance found in nature. Celery was first discovered and used as a nervine by French physicians about 1857. But a combination of the EXTRACT OF CELERY AND CHAMOMILE, which has been recently introduced to the profession and the public by Dr. C. W. Benson, has produced such marvellous results in curing nervousness and headache, and especially nervous and sick headaches, neuralgia, paralysis, indigestion and sleeplessness, that it has excited public attention and newspaper comments, and many physicians have tested the merits of this preparation with the best results, as quoted below from a few.

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY.

"Dr. Benson's preparation of Celery and Chamomile for nervous diseases is the most important addition made to the materia medica in the last quarter of century."—Dr. J. W. J. Englar, of Baltimore.

"These Pills are invaluable in nervous diseases."—Dr. Hammond, of New York.

"Dr. Benson's Pills are worth their weight in gold in nervous and sick headache."—Dr A. H. Schlichter, of Baltimore.

"Dr. Benson's Pills for the cure of neuralgia are a success."—Dr. G. F. Holman, of Christiansburg, Va.

These Pills are a special preparation, only for the cure of special diseases, as named, and for these diseases they are worthy of a trial by all intelligent sufferers. They are prepared expressly to cure sick headache, nervous headache, hypochondriac headache, neuralgia, nervousness, paralysis, sleeplessness and indigestion, and will cure any disease. Endorsed and recommended by the medical profession, for Dyspepsia, General Debility, Female Diseases, Want of Vitality, Nervous Prostration, and Convalescence from Fever &c.

GENTLEMEN: I was suffering from general debility to such an extent that my labor was exceedingly burdensome to me. A vacation of a month did not give me much relief, but on the contrary, was followed by increased prostration and sinking chills. At this time I began the use of your IRON TONIC, from which I received almost immediate and wonderful results. I used several bottles and I found that my natural force was not permanently abated. I have used three bottles of the Tonic. Since using it I have done twice the labor that I ever did in the same time during my illness, and with the same ease. With the tranquil nerve and vigor of body, has come also a clearness of thought never before enjoyed. If the Tonic has not done the work, I know not what. I give it the credit. J. P. Wright, Pastor Christian Church, Troy, O.

ATLANTA FEMALE INSTITUTE.

Commencement Exercises at the Opera House.

The Atlanta female institute has become so well established in Atlanta and so highly esteemed for its good work that its commencement exercises are always attended with rare interest, not only to the patrons of the school but to the public generally. Thursday night DeGive's opera house was filled with an audience representative of the culture of the city, and the exercises received throughout the closest attention.

The following programme was presented:

Overture—Magic Flute—Mozart—Miss Archie Yonge and Mr. Barill.

Recitation—Leak in the Dyke—Miss Louise Coiner.

Recitation—A Naughty Little Girl's Views of Life—Miss Paul Howard.

Song—The Chorister—Sullivan—Miss E. Richards.

Recitation—The Ship on Fire—Miss Sallie Fan ni Grant.

Recitation—Daisy's Faith—Miss Annie Adair.

Recitation—Shelling Peas—Miss Leonie Rodriguez.

Piano solo—Fantasie—Duvernoy—Miss Lucy Dougherty.

Recitation—The Engineer's song—Miss Sallie Adair.

Piano solo—Impromptu—Raff—Miss Annie Wharton.

Recitation—Le Corbeau et le Renard—Misses Hortense Rodrigues and Adalena Adair.

Piano solo—Sonatina—Lichner—Miss Mamie Garrett.

Recitation—Reverie in Church—Miss Lenore Schumann.

Piano solo—a. Cradle Song b. Nocturne—Barill —Mr. Barill.

French dialogue—Misses Mamie Boylston, Annie Belle Knott, Clifford Stewart, Mamie Loyd, Annie Gwin.

Piano solo—The Dying Poet—Gottschalk—Miss Lelia Garrett.

Recitation—The Emigrant's Story—Miss Fleda Bennett.

Song—When the Tide Comes in—Millard—Miss Hattie Wilson.

Recitation—Anathusia's Torment—Miss Lucy Dougherty.

Piano solo—Polonaise—Bohm—Miss W. Howard.

Essay—Horace—Miss Julia Wilson.

Piano solo—Danse Andalouse—Archer—Miss Archie Yonge.

Recitation—Archie Dean—Miss Sadie Webb.

Piano solo—Valse de Concert—Loeschorn—Miss Carrie Matthews.

Recitation—Passing Away—Miss Mary Withers.

Valedictory—Miss Annie Eddleman.

Where all did so well it is difficult to discriminate. Miss Sallie Fannie Grant recited the "Ship on Fire," with true dramatic intensity. Miss Paul Howard won the heart of her audience by her sweetly natural rendition of "A Naughty Girl's Views of Life," and little Lucy Dougherty was as cunning as the goddess of mischief, in her recitation of "Anathusia's Torment."

Among the larger pupils Miss Sadie Webb recited "Archie Dean" with such rare appreciation and such delicate execution that she richly deserved the frequent applause bestowed upon her.

Miss Mary Withers had a difficult task in reciting "Passing Away," but she accomplished it gracefully. Miss Julia Wilson, in her essay on "Horace," developed fine critical powers and excellent skill in composition.

The music which varied the recitations was good. Professor Barili, who trains the pupils in this department, received a handsome encore for his own superb performance. The piano solo of Misses Howard, Wharton, Mamie Garrett, Lelia Garrett, Yonge, Dougherty and Matthews were each so successful as to deserve a separate compliment. Miss Ethel Richards and Miss Hattie Wilson sang with a grace and sweetness highly enjoyable. Miss Eddleman delivered one of the neatest valedictories ever heard in Atlanta. The committee to decide the relative merits of the girls in elocution awarded the medal for the first class to Miss Sadie Webb, and the medal for the second class to Miss Sallie Fannie Grant.

All the pupils gave evidences of the excellent training they had received from Miss Bird, the teacher of elocution in the Institute.

The diplomas and medals were awarded by Rev. Dr. Gwin in some brief remarks full of tender feeling and goodly council.

The following class medals were awarded to those who stood first in their respective classes during the year:

Collegiate department, second grade—Miss Annie Wade.

Academic department, first grade—Misses Emma and Ella Smith.

Academic department, second grade—Miss Mary Wilson.

Intermediate department, first grade—Miss Carrie Mathews.

Intermediate department, third grade—first prize, Miss Georgia Thompson; second prize, Misses Mamie Boyston and Annie Belle Knott.

Primary department, first grade—Misses Stella Knott and Gracie Boyd.

The following class medals were awarded to those who stood first in French in their respective classes: Misses Annie Wade, Fleda Bennett, Emma Smith, Helen Schumann, Carrie Mathews, Nellie Spott, Mamie Boylston, Leonie Rodriguez, Sallie Fannie Grant, Ellen Peters and Mamie Loyd.

The following medals were awarded for special improvement in music: Misses Lei a Garrett, Annie Wharton, Mamie Garrett, Lucy Dougherty.

The following medal was given for improvement in drawing: Miss Odessa Dougherty.

The following medals were given for special improvement in English classes: Misses Fleda Bennett, Emilie and Lenore Schumann.

Miss Archie Yonge received honorable mention for rapid improvement in literature, modern languages and music, having entered school too late to obtain a medal.

Miss Carrie Mathews received honorable mention in music.

Presentations of certificates to Misses Julia Wilson, Annie Eddleman, Carrie Bellingrath, Lollie Warnock and Annette Shackelford!

A gold medal was given to Miss Lollie Warnock for being almost perfect in her recitations during the year.

The exercises paid a high tribute to the teachers of the institute and strengthened its hold on the people of Atlanta.

A pleasing incident occurred during the delivery of the medals. In the graduating class Miss Lollie Warnock received a medal for nearly perfect scholarship. Dr. Warnock had slipped on the ribbon a beautiful diamond ring with the inscription "From a delighted parent," and Dr. Gwin, catching sight of the inscription, read it to the audience. It was a deserved compliment to the young lady.

THE ATLANTA EXPOSITION.

A Meeting of the General Committee Yesterday.

New Orleans Democrat.

There was yesterday a meeting of the general committee, composed of the committees representing the several and various commercial exchanges and business organizations of the city, intrusted with the duty of seeing New Orleans and Louisiana properly represented at the Atlanta exposition.

The meeting was held in the committee rooms of the cotton exchange, and was presided over by Mr. J. D Britton, in the absence of Captain Buck, out of the city.

Letters from H. I. Kimball, general director of the exposition, in response to communications from Captain Buck were read. They conveyed the information that exhibitors had to meet a small charge for space; that so far as this charge was concerned no discrimination was made between subscribers and non subscribers to the stock of the exposition; that the immediate expenses of the enterprise would be $200,000, one-fourth of which had been advanced in Atlanta; that New Orleans was considered good for $10,000 of the balance, and that if the success of the exhibition was warranted, the amounts advanced would be refunded to subscribers.

During the debate which followed the reading of the letter it was stated by Mr. S. Hernsheim, of the committee who had the prospectus, that no premiums or prizes were offered to exhibitors.

Mr. Britton said the exposition was intended merely to give manufacturers and producers an opportunity to display their goods, but that if there was any money remaining after returning stock advances and paying expenses, it would be divided among the exhibitors and subscribers.

Mr. Britton subsequently stated that the contributions asked were in the nature of subscriptions to stock in the enterprise, and that shares were fixed at $100 each.

On motion of Mr. Hernshelm, the chair was authorized to appoint a committee of one member from each of the bodies represented at the meeting to solicit subscriptions to the stock of the exposition, and on motion of Mr. Abrams it was decided to leave subscription lists with the secretaries of each of the commercial bodies and business organizations.

It was further decided to direct the attention of the public to the exposition by advertisements in the daily papers.

The committee adjourned subject to call.

The committee to solicit contributions will be announced to-day.

Why Are You Bilious?

Because you have allowed your bowels to become costive and liver torpid. Use Kidney-Wort to produce a free state of the bowels, and it will stimulate the liver to proper action, cleanse the skin of its yellowness, cures bilious headache and cause new life in the blood. Druggists have it, both dry and liquid.—Zion's Herald.

—Editor McMasters, of the Freeman's Journal, comes out strong against "the autocrat of the organ loft," whom he regards as an enemy of true Roman Catholic worship. He describes what was called a sacred concert in a church on Sunday evening, when a full band "dashed into a selection in rapid time, to which the venerable pastor, who was an Italian, and who doubtless regarded this as some wild, barbaric American attempt at religious melody, gave cadence, with a smile of great satisfaction," The tune, however, was that of the song, "Tassels on Her Boots," which was followed by "Whoa, Emma!" and "Rock the Cradle, Pat" "The organist," says Mr. McMasters, "really rules the ritual of the church. What are the rubrics or the meaning of inspired words to him? He presides, and he is determined that nobody shall forget it."

Nearly all the ills that Allict Mankind can be prevented and cured by keeping the stomach, liver and kidneys in perfect working order. There is no medicine known that will do this as quickly and surely, without interfering with your duties as Parker's Ginger Tonic. See advertisement.

—Six hundred car loads of strawberries were shipped from Delaware and Maryland over the railroads operated by the Pennsylvania railroad company last week, which sold for $275,000. One-half the strawberries went to New York. The first peaches of the season arrived on Thursday last from Georgia and sold for twenty cents apiece. A shipment of peaches from Florida, which reached New York on Saturday in perfect condition, each peach having been packed in cotton, sold for $2 per dozen.

FRAUD EXPOSED.

PARIS, March 11, 1881.

DEAR SIR: My uncle, Ricord, never authorized any person to use his name, and has never sold any prescription or formula for Ricord's Vital Restorative.

I am the only authorized person to make use of his prescription.

Have sued for Dr. S. Brown Sigesmond, of New York, as sole general agent for all the United States of America, Mexico and Island of Cuba.

The letter published by DeLisser and which he pretends to have received from Dr. Ricord is a fraud, Dr. Ricord, of 6 rue de Tournon, Paris, writes under date of April 13th, 1881, That he never knew R. L. DeLisser. of New York City; never wrote him a letter or authorized any one to sell him any formula. Neither has he ever authorized DeLisser to use his name to any remedy whatever, and that the signature of the letter published by DeLisser and purporting to come from him is copied or transferred from an original, but the text is not his handwriting.

Your devoted servant,
A. LEVASSOR.

City, County and State of New York ss:

Oscar F. Gunz being duly sworn, deposes and says he knows this to be the original French letter from Dr. Levassor, translated into English, made by him this 26th day of March, 1881.

OSCAR F. GUNZ.

Subscribed and sworn before me this 26th day of March, 1881. CHARLES SEDGWICK,

THE COTTON MARKET.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE,
Atlanta, June 10, 1881.

New York—The cotton market has been very quiet and steady this week, and at the close to-day a gain of only five points for the week has taken place. Fluctuations have been entirely too moderate to stimulate traders, and sales in the aggregate have been comparatively light. The crop reports continue unfavorable, and with good seasons we will be able to record in due time the largest yield hitherto known. While the closing figures to-day shows that there has been a slight gain for the week, it seems quite evident that influences generally are of a depressing nature, and may culminate eventually in a material decline from the present range of quotations. The spot market ruled quiet during the week, and at the close to-day no quotable change had been effected, though at present holders are asking higher prices for middling and the higher grades; middling now 11 1-16c.

Net receipts for the week ending to-day amount to 29,309 bales, against 32,406 bales last week and against 18,497 bales for the corresponding week last year; exports for the week 49,442 bales, against 49,400 bales for the same week last year; stock 431,031 bales, against 352,169 bales same time last year.

Below we give the opening and closing quotations of cotton futures in New York, to-day:

There has been very little change in the local cotton market this week. A good demand has generally prevailed for spots and all offerings have been readily taken. Futures have been quiet. Receipts since Tuesday morning amount to 137 bales. We quote spots steady at the following prices: Good middling 10¾c; middling 10c; low middling 9⅝c; strict good ordinary 9c; good ordinary 8c; ordinary 6c.

Key-Winding Watches Converted into Stem-Winders.

We are prepared to change any gents' size key-winding American Watch into stem-winders—the time required for doing the work being only two days.

Railroad men and others having fine key-winding watches will not only enhance the value of their time pieces by having this change made, but will also find it a great convenience.

PORT ROYAL.

What an Enthusiastic Friend Claims for It.

Yesterday a CONSTITUTION man met a gentleman who feels an interest in Port Royal, and asked him about the controversy as to the receipts of customs at that port.

"Well," said he, "you see, not long ago there was an item current to the effect that Port Royal paid the government more duties and tonnage than Charleston and Savannah combined. Both of these cities jumped on us and their papers denied the statement in very emphatic terms. They seemed to have considerable feeling on the matter, and we regretted that such a quarrel should have arisen. But we mean just what we say, and we reiterate it, Port Royal does pay more duties than the big cities of Charleston and Savannah combined."

"How do you support your statement?"

"I can prove it by the official proof that is admissible—the official records of the three ports."

"Have you the figures?"

"Oh, yes; I carry them with me. Here they are. Up to June 2d the official reports of the collector of customs at Port Royal show that the receipts at that port since the first of July, 1880, have been $.29,634 43. In addition to this I know that the ship "Sunbo" is now bound for Port Royal with a cargo which will pay $32,551 75. Thus we are dead sure to have by the first of July a year's receipts running up to $192,186 18. Now, all we have claimed is that Port Royal will exceed in duties this fiscal year the combined duties of Charleston and Savannah for the last fiscal year. We mean what we say, and here's the proof. The Savannah duties last year were $53,473.23. Charleston paid for the same time $61,924.62, making a total for both cities of $115,397.85. Port Royal this year cannot fall below $192,186.18, or an excess of $76,788 33 over both Charleston and Savannah. Do you see the point?"

The champion of Port Royal smiled and sauntered off, his face beaming in patriotic pride, while the humble reporter dodged around the corner to find a Savannah man and paralyze him with the figures just given.

Billiards.

There was a match game of billiards (4 balls) played at Shi-loh's billiard room last Saturday night between Professor Clark and Kelley Boyneil. Clarke gave Bonnell 50 points in a game of 200 points, Bonnell beating Clark 17 points.

Bonnell now challenges Clark to play a game of 3 ball billiards 200 points even up. Profs or Clark accepts and the game will take place to-morrow (saturday) night at Shields's billiard room under the management of Professor Clark. No 29 Marietta street, at 8:30 sharp. All our pool players are invited to try for the prize on the pool table. This month the prize will be a fine silk umbrella which now hangs over the table.

W. Le Conte Stevens.

The following item clipped from the New York Times of the 7th will interest the friends of Mr Stevens in Atlanta: At the meeting of the New York academy of sciences last evening, Mr W. Le Conte stevens read a paper on "Binocular Vision by Optic Divergence," describing by means of diagrams and performing many curious optical experiments. The subject is one that has been treated experimentally by Helmholtz, Hering and others in Germany, and by Professor Le Conte in this country, with a view to explain the optical and physiological relations of vision and the effects of convergence and divergence.

The Atlanta University.

The closing exercises of the Atlanta university will be held next week. The examination will occupy Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, commencing at 8 o'clock each day. The anniversary exercises will be held at Friendship Baptist church Thursday at 10 a.m., and will consist of essays, orations, music, an address by Rev. A. G. Haygood, and the presentation of the diplomas. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached tomorrow at 11:15 a.m., by Rev. C. W. Francis.

City Court.

Judge Clark presided in the city court yesterday, and disposed of the following cases:

Hall & Long vs. Thompson; verdict for plaintiff.

Dickie & Co. vs. Franklin; order to suspend judgment pending motion for new trial, which will be heard on the 24th.

Cawhorn vs. Richards; judgment for plaintiff for $66 60 principal and $.64 interest, with c. sts of suit.

E. N. Broyles vs. Newton manufacturing company; verdict for plaintiff for $.25 principal and $25.40 interest, with costs of suit.

Court adjourned to Monday.

—The Auburn, New York, Auburnesan says: A circular received in this city from Atlanta, Georgia, contains the information that George H. Bradley, son of S. L. Bradley, president of the National bank of Auburn, has settled in that place. Mr Bradley is interested in and has been appointed to the secretaryship and superintendency of a company organized for the purpose of manufacturing cotton seed cleaners. Mr. Bradley is to be congratulated upon being located in the most go ahead city in the sunny south.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Engages in a Discussion of Interest to Teachers.

In the high school building, on Washington street, there was a meeting of the normal class yesterday evening.

At 4 o'clock Professor W. A. Slaton called the house to order. The journal of the last session was read by Miss Callaway, the secretary, and upon motion approved.

Professor W. F. Slaton announced the days appointed for the various examinations in the different schools.

The pay-roll was signed by the teachers present and checks for last month's salary distributed.

Professor Slaton addressed the assembly at length. He spoke of the work for the coming week and advised the teachers of the ordeal through which they will be compelled to pass. He lectured them upon excitement and entreated them to keep cool when annoyed by the rush of visitors. Referring to the children he said, "The days are becoming warmer and the children more restive. Do not try to restrain this feeling by depriving the child of its recess. Let there be no such thing as keeping in at recess for the next two weeks. It will work a great disadvantage to both the teacher and the scholar. Rule is the best government that is not seen; that is not detected. When a pupil suspects that you are trying to control it there is a certain rebellious disposition that manifests itself. When you once fail to govern your pupil loses confidence in your ability to govern, and that confidence you can never regain." Professor Slaton complimented the teachers upon the success which their untiring and zealous labor has attained for them.

Speaking of the closing exercises of the schools he said: "Be cautious in your selections. When your examinations are going on do not stop your regular exercises to suit the caprice or whim of any visitor. We do not expect to find a Booth or a Bernhardt in your schools. Be careful in your choice of pieces. Don't choose a six year old boy for a Hamlet."

Prof. Slaton then advised the principals to use diligence in preventing damage by boys to the school buildings. His remarks were instructing, interesting and well received.

Prof. Bonnell, chairman of the committee upon rules for examination papers, submitted a lengthy report, which was read, discussed, altered, amended and adopted. The report after its adoption was thorough. In the discussion of the report Professors Bizzell, Moore, White and Isham and Misses Haygood, Callaway, Smilie and Love participated.

One rule relating to the examination upon grammar caused a great deal of discussion. The rule as submitted by the committee embraced capitalization and punctuation and errors in each were made as grave as the violation of any established rule. Miss Haygood supported by the ladies opposed the rule as proposed, whilst Professor Bonnell, sustained by others, supported it. By a careful review of the question Miss Haygood convinced the class that the rule as proposed was too severe and thus caused its obliteration from the paragraph. Subsequently a resolution introduced by Miss Haygood governing capitalization and punctuation was adopted.

Prof. Slaton stated that Atlanta was the best vaccinated town in the union, and said that out of 4,100 school children there were but 86 that were not vaccinated. Each of these, he added, had been vaccinated but without success.

References to changes in text books was made, but pending the discussion of the question the class adjourned.

MISSES WASHINGTON'S SCHOOL.

Closing Exercises Last Night.

Last night DeGive's opera house was the scene of the very pleasing commencement exercises of the elegant school which the Misses Washington have established in Atlanta. The following was the programme:

Grand C, Folka de Concert—Miss Irene Farrar.
Act 2, Scene IV, from Henry VIII—Misses Reagan, Lyons and Whitfield.
How many Pounds does Baby weigh?—Miss Isabelle Newman.
Silent Cities. Composition—Miss Lizzie Rucker.
The Curfew Must Not Ring To night—Miss Lulie Lyons.
How does the Money go?—Miss Dora Walker.
Calisthenics—Wand Exercises.
The May Queen—Miss Elise Compton.
L'Hirondelle—Miss Gertrude Whitfield.
La Fillede Regiment—Miss Julia Clarke.
Maclaue's Child—Miss Hessie Boylston.
Footsteps on the Sands of Time, Composition—Miss B. Reagan.
The Captive Knight—Miss Louisa King.
Jus' Thirteen—Miss May Avery.
Calisthenics—Ring exercise.
Cantique de Noel—Miss Louise DeGive.
Footsteps of Angels—Miss Genie Rucker.
La Jeune Fille et l'Oiscau envole—Miss Pinkie Lyons.
Burial of Moses—Miss Jessie White.
Earth's Battle Fields. Composition—Miss Lulie Lyons.
Le Corbeau et le Renard—Miss Rena Snook.
Calisthenics—Dumb bells.
Gates Ajar—Miss Julia Clarke.
La Fermeria Formieore—Miss Jessie White.
The Conquered Banner—Miss Pinkie Lyons.
Vive la Republique—Miss Buddie Hill.
The Scholar's Degree—Miss Gertrude Whitfield.
The Grand Merch—All the scho ars.

This programme was carried out beautifully. It was the general opinion that a prettier school exhibition was never seen in Atlanta. All the girls did so well that the reporter would like to lay at the feet of each a bouquet of compliments. They were all handsomely dressed and in the calisthenics showed to a fine advantage. In these graceful maneuvers they had been trained by Mrs. Mallon. Professor Agostini had taught them the marches which they did to perfection, and Miss Nita Walker assisted well on the piano.

General Walker, in his usual happy style, delivered the following medals and prizes:

First prize, senior class, gold medal, to Miss Gertrude Whitfield.

Second prize, senior class, gold medal, to Miss Lulie Lyons.

Class prize, senior class, book, to Miss Pinkie Lyons.

Class prize, junior class, book, to Miss Alice Bearse.

Class prize, intermediate class, book, to Miss Lizzie Rucker.

First prize, primary department, gold medal, to Miss Isabel Newman.

Second prize, primary department, gold medal, to Miss Grace Rucker.

Class prize, second class, primary department, book, to Miss Julia L. Clarke.

Third class, primary department, book, to Miss Elise Compton. Portfolio for improvement in writing to Miss Jessie White.

All the bright, young eyes went homesparkling and the glad, young hearts light with a joy that had no tinge of regret.

The Cotton Exposition.

H. I. Kimball, director general, returned yesterday from Augusta and reported to the executive committee of the international cotton exposition a very successful trip. The people of Augusta have the thanks of the citizens of Atlanta for their liberal subscriptions. It will be appreciated, and we will some day return the favor.

Director General Kimball will spend a week or ten days in the cities of Chicago, Louisville and Cincinnati in the interest of the exposition. He has been very successful in receiving subscriptions and yesterday remaked to the executive committee, that he found more trouble in getting their consent to spend the money than he did in getting it subscribed.

One Negative Vote.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: My attention has been called to a statement in your paper to the effect that all the ministers of the Pastors' association in this city had unanimously passed a resolution not to allow notices of their meetings to be gazetted in the Sunday papers. I desire to say that I was not present at the meeting which took said action, and if I had been, there would have been one negative vote on the question.

Reported at the Station-House.

During the day yesterday there was little life among the police. The morning watch did nothing, but about dark life began to show itself, and by 2 o'clock this morning the city prison was well filled. The following is a summary of the night's work:

Last night Officer Sleerman calabossed John Gilmer, opposite whose name the station-house keeper wrote "suspicion." In Gilmer's possession was found a sack containing three bottles of wine and three boxes of shoe blacking. In his pocket were some keys and a small amount of money. It is thought that Gilmer's title to the property was illegally attained. About three week ago Gilmer was arrested by Captain Connolly who came across him about midnight. Then Gilmer had a couple of sacks of flour, which are still at the station house. It is thought that the day will develop a good case against him.

The same entry stands opposite Albert Dorsey's name. About one o'clock this morning Dorsey was arrested on the Boulevard by Officers Couch and Lackey. When first questioned he gave his name as Charley Curry but subsequently denied the cognomen. At the station house several members of the force identified him as Charley Curry who is wanted for burglary and riot. Curry is one of the parties that opposed the arrest of some boys on Summer Hill a few weeks ago. Should the prisoner prove to be Curry, the chain gang will doubtless have an addition.

Louis Brown is booked for carrying concealed weapons. He was arrested for a violation of the city laws, but was searched at the station-house a revolver was found in his pocket, and Brown will go before a justice to-day for trial. He registers under a duplex name—Louis Brown alias Joe Greer.

About one year ago Wiley Fitch, a convict serving a term in Hendrix's camp, Coweta county, escaped. For his arrest a reward of $20 was offered, but Wiley was on the alert and retained his liberty until last night, when Officer Reid spied him on Marietta street near the state house. Wiley is now in cell No. 5 awaiting the arrival of Hendrix's agents.

Officers Crim and Speer arrested Wilborn Hill, against whom they bring the charge of larceny.

Fred Mathews will to-day have a preliminary hearing. Mathews is charged with larceny from the person. The prosecution will be supported by the testimony of a man named Sharp, who will testify that the defendant stole a fine double-case gold watch from him. The watch was recovered, but Mathews will plead not guilty.

Captains Starnes and Bagby caged Wm. Haygood. Haygood is charged with receiving stolen goods.

Coleman, the man who has been spending some months in the chain-gang where he was sent serve a term for stealing George Johnston, the bill posters overcoat was released yesterday by the payment of one hundred dollars.

Captain Starnes and Bagby yesterday discovered a lot of goods which some thieves brought from Edwardsville, having burglarized a store in that village for them. Among the articles recovered are one dress, one black frock coat, a lot of tobacco, snuff, soap, wine and blacking. These goods were found in a well known rendezvous for burglars on Bone alley.

—Captain Connolly is one of the most faithful and diligent police officials in the south. He is always where duty calls him.

A Case Decided.

NEW ORLEANS, June 10.—In the United States court to-day in the case of the American railway improvement company against the Longshore-men's protective society Judge Billings delivered an opinion granting the injunction against defendants and declaring the act No. 76 of the state laws of 1880 null and void, being violative of the exclusive right of congress to regulate commerce. This act forbids the crews of foreign vessels to work on shore in loading and unloading.

Another Birthday.

A very happy and pleasant birthday reunion took place last Tuesday evening at the residence of Mr. Young Garrett, on Washington street, on the occasion of the thirteenth birthday of his daughter—Miss Nellie. In addition to a large number of the relatives of the family, scores of the friends of the young lady were in attendance. A very happy time was had with the young folks, and all left wishing many happy returns of the same event for their young friend.

Governor Colquitt,

Governor Colquitt has returned from Hot Springs looking remarkably well. He seems to have perfectly recovered from his recent cutaneous disorder, and has enjoyed his recreation very much. Yesterday he was in the executive office looking hearty and well. Quite a number of friends called to express their pleasure at his return and restoration to health.

Fine Wheat.

THE CONSTITUTION was shown yesterday a sample of some very fine wheat raised by the little sons of Mr. J. F. Jones, who resides near Hogansville. The boys have about two hundred bushels of it.

An Honor Graduate.

In the list of honor graduates of the Atlanta girls' high school published in Wednesday's CONSTITUTION the name of Miss Orie Bell was published as Miss Evie Bell.
